

Supplementary Figure 4: 2D slices through the vial, the light blue background corresponds to water and makes a 3D view difficult. A full view would need to assemble many slices. (a) Axial slice through the image of the vial; the little red rings represent the capitula in this actual slice. (b) Sagittal slice through the image of the vial. The red structure is a slice through the stem, red dots correspond to branch points.