

Figure S1 Sturgeon back muscles

Note: The upper layer consisting of both yellow and red portions was designated as yellow meat, while the lower layer was categorized as white meat. The combination of yellow and white meat without separation was labeled as sturgeon whole flesh.