

Figure S4. Frequency distribution of major and minor alleles in the current avocado germplasm collection. Boxplots show that for the minor allele (F^M), median frequency is low ($\sim 0.1 - 0.2$) and the major allele frequency (F^E) is high (~ 0.9) as expected. There are fewer outliers above the minor allele plot and a few below the major allele box suggesting population structure in the data.