

Figure S2. ENC versus GC₃s relationship for protein-coding genes in 14 chloroplast genomes. Each point represents an individual gene, with the point size proportional to its ENC value. The solid black line represents the theoretical neutral expectation curve, where codon preference is determined exclusively by GC₃s composition.